YELLOW ROOM NEWSLETTER

March 2023

Hello Yellow Room Families! We had fun last month exploring our "Healthy Hearts" theme. This month will focus on our theme "Spring is in the Air".

For the first week in March, we will be focusing on weather. For art, we will make a rainbow windsock and use eye droppers to make rainy day art. Our literacy activities will include tracing letters in the clouds and spelling our names with rain drops. For math and science, we will be making weather sensory bottles and playing a game with cloud shapes.

During the second week we will be focusing on St. Patrick's Day! We will be exploring letters in green sand and writing words that correspond to the tricky day for literacy! For math, we will be counting rainbow beads and counting pom poms on a leprechaun's orange beard. For art, we will make a clover using giant marshmallows and a colorful rainbow necklace! Watch out for a silly and tricky leprechaun that might be up to some shenanigans this week in the classroom!

The third week of March, we will focus on the season of Spring. We will make our own greenhouse in a bag for science. For math, we will make flower patterns and play a fun shape matching game.

For art, we will use sunflower seeds to make a sunflower craft and make prints from stamping flowers on paper. We will make our own name flower garden for literacy.

Lastly for week 4, we will focus on the Wetland Habitat! For literacy, we will trace letters with ducks, make our names using lily pads, and do a fly letter match to help the frog eat! For math and science, we will place several goldfish to the corresponding number, place animals in the correct wetland habitat and measure how high is jumping with the linking cubes! Finally, for art, we will make a mosaic turtle using cut out pieces of green shades, make a colorful dragonfly using a Q-tip and a hungry paper plate frog!
